OUR CORE

1 Preconstruction

When we can work with the building design team early, providing you the owner with a higher quality of work, less material waste, fewer budget fluctuations, and an expedited schedule.

2 General Contractor

We manage the entire construction phase from inception through closeout, working with the owner, design team, and subcontractors to deliver the project as efficiently and timely as possible, drawing on our decades of experience.

3 Design-Build

This approach provides more value engineering while minimizing work change orders and scheduling delays because it pairs the design and build team together during preconstruction, providing a better experience for everyone involved, especially the project owner.

4 Construction Management

We manage the day-to-day operations like a traditional general contractor with the added responsibility and trust of making financial decisions on behalf of the owner.

CAPABILITY STATEMENT

REX Construction Services is a team of modern-day master builders, blending decades of construction experience with technology and business acumen.

We're different because we present solutions, not just issues, and we advocate for every client on every project as if REX was a financial partner on the project. We believe we are ONE team with our clients and with everyone on a project. We call this our REX.one philosophy where the architects, engineers, trade partners, clients, and community all work together and win together.

We've built a team of seasoned construction professionals with decades of experience who have each built millions of square feet of commercial buildings. Additionally, our partnership with REX Engineering Group gives you access to some of the brightest minds in the structural and MEP engineering industry. Together, we have a culture of continual process improvement and thrive in solving complex problems.
